Vishinsky Says Russia Does Not Recognize Tsang

Tells U. N. That Russia No Longer Recognizes Tsang As China's Representative

DEMANDS THAT HE BE DISBARRED IN U. N.

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. N. Staff Correspondent)

FLUSHING MEADOW, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky announced in the United Nations today that Russia no longer recognizes Tingfu F. Tsang as China's legal representative at U. N.

The Russian foreign office chief made the announcement at the beginning of an hour's final statement on atomic energy control in refuting recent comment on Russia's atom proposals by Tsang.

Vishinsky said he did not know who Tsang represented.

He then declared that the Soviet Union supports the position taken by the Peiping Communist regime in two messages to the U. N. Both these messages denounced Tsang as no longer representing the Chinese people and demanded that he be disbarred from China's seat at U. N.

To Challenge Status
The Vishinsky statement from the assembly rostrum is regarded as the forerunner to a formal challenge to Tsang's legal status when the Chinese issue is raised in the political committee next week.

Turning to the atomic control issue, Vishinsky rejected Western allegations that Russia always has opposed inspection. He insisted that the Soviet Union has done everything possible to free humanity from the fear of atomic destruction.

Vishinsky recalled that Stalin as far back as 1946 said the atom bomb, though not as serious a weapon as represented, was being used to intimidate the weak-hearted.

Montgomery To Meet Johnson To Talk Defense

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(U. N. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery will discuss with defense secretary Louis Johnson today the strength and weakness of western Europe's armed forces.

The British hero of El Alamein, now chairman of the western union military committee, will see Johnson for the first time during the day. He also will visit his old battlefield companions, join chiefs of staff chairman Gen. Omar N. Bradley and army chief of staff Gen. J. Lawton Collins.

He was a companion in arms of Bradley and Collins in Europe during the war. Bradley commanded the first army, and later 12th army group, and Collins commanded the seventh corps. Both worked closely with Montgomery.

Montgomery ended a full day yesterday as the guest at a Pentagon tea and cocktail party given by the joint chiefs of staff. An abstainer, he drank tea.

Earlier he told a luncheon at the National Press club that if western Europe is attacked "we will have a real good time; we will have a real party, and we will kill a lot of people."

Bridges' Trial Being Resumed

Execution Of Contempt Sentence On Chief Defense Lawyer Is Postponed

HEATED EXCHANGES OCCUR IN COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—(INS)—The stormy San Francisco trial of Harry Bridges resumes today under a "gentlemen's" truce postponing execution of a contempt sentence imposed on the chief defense lawyer.

The truce was declared by Judge George B. Harris late yesterday near the close of one of the most tempestuous sessions in federal court annals—a verbal Donnybrook climaxed when defense Attorney Vincent Hallinan was ordered to jail.

The judge, presiding over the perjury-conspiracy trial of the CIO Longshore leader and two union aides, summarily decreed $10 (Continued on Page Two)

Tuesday on Route 19 hill, about two miles from Harlansburg's junction of Routes 19 and 108, according to State police. X-rays were to be taken today to ascertain if any bones were fractured.

According to the police, Mrs. Coast was driving north, down the hill, when her car began to skid and she applied the brakes. Her car turned around, heading south then struck a guard rail.

Crash Survivor

OSLO, Norway.—Isaac Allal, 12, the only survivor of 34 passengers and crew members of a Dutch nursery plane which crashed 20 miles south of Oslo, Isaac was found after spending 48 hours in the forest at the scene of the crash. Of the 26 children one was a sister and two were brothers to Isaac.

Sole Survivor Of Plane Crash Will Recover

DRAMMEN, Norway, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Physicians attending young Isaac Allal, sole survivor of the nursery plane crash which took 34 lives, said today that the youngster's resilient body and mind probably will recover completely from the harrowing experience.

Eleven-year-old Isaac, one of 28 Jewish refugee children on board the Oslo-bound plane, was trapped in the fuselage for 42 hours before his dramatic rescue. Two of his brothers and a sister perished in the tragedy.

At the site of the crash, searchers resumed their efforts to locate the three remaining bodies. A Dutch expert arrived to assist the Norwegian investigation, commission in an on-the-spot probe.

Aero Holland, operator of the plane, is expected to take the deceased crew members back to The Netherlands and has offered to return the bodies of the children to Tunis, the city from which they set out for Norway and "rehabilitation."

Make New Records For Atlantic Hops

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(INS)—American planes offered today a new formula for setting trans-Atlantic flying records—ride a 120-mile an hour wind and open your throttle wide.

An American Overseas Airlines strato-cruiser spanned the Atlantic in seven hours and 13 minutes from Boston to Shannon, Ireland, Tuesday, using the new formula to clip 58 minutes off the old record.

Another AOA strato-cruiser lowered the three-year-old New York-Shannon record by four minutes, covering the distance in eight hours and 26 minutes.

At the same time, the Pan-American World Airways clipper Flying Cloud shaved 13 minutes off the New York-London record by making the run in eight hours, 55 minutes.

State Department Reports Ward Is Ordered Deported

Consul Convicted By Chinese Communists, Sentence Suspended And Deportation Ordered

WORD OF RELEASE AT MUKDEN GIVEN

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. N. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The State Department reported today that Angus Ward and four of his staff have been convicted by a Communist people's court and ordered deported from China.

The Department received reports that the Communist court had convicted the U. S. consul general at Mukden and four of his staff on charges of assaulting a Chinese workman, but that their sentences were suspended.

To Be Deported Immediately
The five U. S. diplomatic staff members were ordered deported immediately.

Ward and the entire consular staff of 13 will thus achieve what the United States has been fighting the Chinese red regime for since last May—repatriation home.

The matter had become a major issue following a United States request of 30 nations with representation in Communist China that they use pressure to obtain Ward's release.

He had been in prison since Oct. 24. Word of his release was personally given by Ward to the United States consul general at Peiping, O. Edmund Clubb.

Ward personally reported that he and his associates were released yesterday and have returned to their homes in the American consulate compound.

The Department immediately ordered Clubb to tell Ward that "he and his entire staff are to depart from Mukden forthwith."

The sentences imposed but commuted to deportation were: Ward, six months in prison. Ralph C. Rehberg and Alfred Kristan, four months in prison. Shiro Tatsumi — a Japanese American—and Frank Clogonia, three months in prison.

In addition all were given one year's parole.

Ward reported that in addition to being charged with the assault of a Chinese worker, he was (Continued on Page Two)

Panama City Is Calm Today

PANAMA CITY, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Panama police held a firm grip on the strategic republic today after putting down a mass uprising with heavy gunfire that killed a five-year-old boy and wounded at least three persons.

Among the wounded were two national assemblymen, who joined efforts to depose President Roberto Chiari, a policeman.

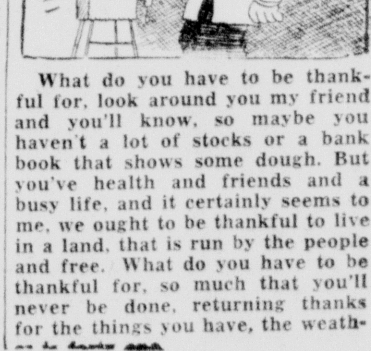

The capital of the tiny republic, Panama City, was calm today, but shots echoed in its streets for hours.

The political situation was still muddled, Chiari, who became president only last Sunday when he forced Dr. Daniel F. Chanas, Jr., to resign, still held power, backed by the police.

What do you have to be thankful for, look around you my friend and you'll know, so maybe you haven't a lot of stocks or a bank book that shows some dough. But you've health and friends and a busy life, and it certainly seems to me, we ought to be thankful to live in a land, that is run by the people and free. What do you have to be thankful for, so much that you'll never be done, returning thanks for the things you have, the weather.

Tells Amazing Story Of Scio-Ohio Pottery

Lou Reese told the story of the Scio-Ohio Pottery to about 100 men and women Tuesday night in The Castleton hotel.

It's a story that few magazine editors would take as a piece of fiction for it sounds fantastic, unbelievable romantic, full of lights and shadows that stretch the imagination.

But it's true.

And Lou Reese told it in a Will Rogerish fashion. Told it with all its humor and pathos, its stark tragedy and high resolve, told it in a way that revives your faith in human nature and convinces you that labor-management relations are a two way street.

Started With Nothing
Mr. Reese started the pottery in the depths of the depression in 1932. His total capital was (Continued on Page Two)

PA NEWS OBSERVES

Most mighty early to be thinking about selecting the family Christmas tree, but one farmer in North Beaver Township has his placard out "Select Your Christmas Tree Now". Loads of the stately pines will soon be rolling through to cities for the market.

Work on rounding the corner at Liberty street and Montgomery avenue has been completed by workmen. All that is necessary now, is for the removal of the curb on the corner and the removal of the utility pole that stands there. The project will be a big improvement in the moving of traffic through that district.

Electricians began the task of decorating and illuminating the exterior of the Pennsylvania Power company building on Tuesday. The large sign "Peace on Earth" on the west side of the building can be seen for quite a distance by West Side residents as they approach town.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Downs, R. D. 5, have plenty to be thankful for these days. They are the proud parents of a set of twins, a boy and a girl, born November 22, in the New Castle hospital. But that is not all, this is the second set of twins born to Mr. and Mrs. Downs.

New Castle's main business section was being decorated with strings of Christmas lights today. The workmen began installing the lights at Croton avenue and were working west toward the Public Square. This is the first time that the downtown has had Christmas artificial illumination since the war years. Scarcity of materials prevented installation prior to this time.

Rev. Gaiser Is Heard By Lions

Pastor Of First Methodist Church Brings Thanksgiving Message

In a holiday message, Rev. James A. Gaiser, pastor of the First Methodist church, brought New Castle Lions a Thanksgiving message, in which he pointed out the way in which Divine Providence works for those who have faith.

Rev. Gaiser recalled experiences which befell him in places where he had been in extreme danger, notably during his visit to Warsaw, Poland, and to Anchorage, Alaska.

In all his many experiences in life, he stated that he has found it possible to believe in people and to trust them. He urged his hearers to believe in people also, because Christ believes in them.

In conclusion, he asked that all thank God for the liberty on which this nation was built, and which will keep it a great nation.

Plans for the Pulaski Charter Night, at The Cathedral here, on December 6, were discussed, and it was announced there would be a meeting of the directors on Friday.

Special guests included Dr. William A. Goodpastor and William C. Schmid, of New Castle, and Orville Porterfield and George L. Wolford, of Butler.

charged with certain financial obligations including compensation to the injured, severance pay, and extra salary payments.

The State Department noted that the latter two charges are probably in connection with the closing of the consulate last May. Since that time American efforts have been concentrated on getting Ward and his staff out of Communist territory.

It was believed probable that officials will have to await Ward's exit from Communist territory before his first hand report on the incident leading up to the arrests can be had.

Telegraphic communications on the subject have been suppressed by the Mukden authorities.

eleven cents if you are thinking of money, but a boundless capital of faith and courage.

He and six other men (the six were on relief) moved into an old abandoned plant in Scio, at a time when jobs in Scio were not only scarce, they were almost nonexistent.

Mr. Reese was and is a potter and he believed that he could start a plant there that would take a lot of people off relief, and put them on the road to honorable self support.

Fifty men and women came in, in a few days and the entire group, Reese included, began clearing away rubble and dirt. What little they had they shared, and out of their boundless faith in each other came credit for supplies and materials, not much but enough to get started.

No Time Clocks

There were no time clocks, no written covenants, no fine print clauses in lengthy agreements. Just a bond of faith and courage that resulted shortly in a little more coming off the production line.

Between 1932 and 1946 the plant prospered and in 1946 came the now famous Christmas present. Mr. Reese divided $350,000 in bonuses among the 900 employees and the economic future looked rosy.

For Christmas of 1947 he had checks for $400,000 written and was in Pittsburgh arranging for entertainment for the Christmas party when word came to him that the plant had burned.

Rushing back to Scio he found it was all too true. The plant that co-operation had built was a charred ruin, no insurance, and the rosy tints of the future seemed to be black out.

It was then that his employees, the business men of Scio, and supply houses proved his faith in human nature.

While the firemen were still fighting the blaze in one end of the plant, employees were working in the other end, clearing up the charred debris.

Everybody helped.

The next day the business houses closed. Instead, the banker, the merchant, the doctor, and the townspeople were at the plant, asking "What can we do?"

Almost miraculously building materials appeared, and the work of rebuilding started. Girls who had never climbed ten feet off the ground, nailed on roof boards. Men who were not mechanics learned how to handle cutting torches. They worked from dawn to dark, they worked at night, they worked shifts unbelievably long with little work being done on keeping time.

But they finished the job.

In 62 days the plant sprang Phoenix-like, from the ashes and months imprisonment for the fiery Hallinan.

At virtually the last moment—as a deputy marshal was reaching for Hallinan to whisk him off in a special prison van—Judge Harris changed his mind. Returning from 15 minutes of meditation in his chambers, the judge announced that Hallinan will not have to serve the sentence immediately.

The judge declared that the proceedings would not be recessed, as he had at first ordered, and that Hallinan would be permitted to continue as defense counsel.

So today John Shomaker, admitted ex-communicant and former Bridges lieutenant, remounts the stand to elaborate on his testimony, which the government says will include the assertion that he signed the stevedore leader into the communist party.

Yesterday's forensic exchanges produced heated exchanges between Judge Harris and Hallinan of a vitriolic frankness such as veteran court observers could not recall ever having witnessed.

There were shouted demands by Hallinan that a mistrial be declared and the trial be transferred to another court—demands rejected angrily by the judge.

And there were demands by government attorneys that the defense lawyer be locked up at once for "desecrating this temple of justice."

FOOTBALL PEP RALLY FRIDAY

uled to get underway at Boyles field Friday evening at 7:30.

A committee of 12 boys from senior high school has made elaborate preparations, suitable for such an event as a title game, and is asking all fans, students or adults, game-goers or otherwise, to attend, join "the fun and give the team a big send-off."

By 7:30 the big bonfire should be blazing and the fans ready to hear some spirited music from the band. The cheerleaders will, of course, be on hand to keep things moving and lead some enthusiastic yelling.

Speaking Program

Speakers on the program include coaches Bridenbaugh and Klee, Dr. Joseph Hartman and three members of the team. The head coach, however, made it clear that the team will not be there if it is raining similar to last year's pep-fest. Joe Hartman has been the chief New Castle scout this season and he has some interesting information about McKeesport football team.

During the cheering-speaking portion of the program, a tiger will be chained to the speakers platform. The "animal" will be allowed to run loose during the big parade that follows the pep rally.

Parade Route

A police car will lead the parade route down Highland avenue to North, across North to East, down East to Washington and then to the diamond where the caging will take place. The band will follow the police cars and it is planned to have the coaches and team in cars behind the band. Then the students and adults will drop in behind the band and cars for a tour of the downtown sector.

BUFFALO GIRL WEDS JOHN E. STEVENSON

The marriage of Miss Joan Benson Grotz, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John G. Grotz, Buffalo, N.Y., and John Edwin Stevenson, son of Mrs. Regina E. Stevenson, and the late Harold E. Stevenson, this city, was solemnized on November 19.

The solemn nuptial mass was performed in St. Joseph's New Cathedral at 10 o'clock with Rt. Rev. Francis Garvey officiating, assisted by Rev. Norman R. George and Rev. Robert E. Murphy.

An ivory satin gown featuring a Chantilly lace bodice was worn by the bride. The gown was fashioned with fitted sleeves and a bouffant skirt enhanced with lace panels which extended into a cathedral train. A full length imported illusion veil cascading from at matching lace cap, completed the ensemble. She carried a prayer book surrounded by clusters of gardenias and white pompons.

Dr. Genevieve Alice Grotz of Detroit was maid of honor for her sister. She chose a gown of claret wine velvet, styled with a basque bodice and hoop skirt. A draped bertha outlined the portrait neckline. She wore an ostrich tip head-dress and carried a cascade bouquet of deep red Fuji mums surrounded by pompons.

Similarly gowned were bridesmaids Mrs. Joseph N. Kempf, of Williamsville and Mrs. Frank S. Quinn, Jr., of Mamaroneck, cousins of the bride. Kathy Kempf, flower girl, was dressed identically and carried a colonial bouquet of rosebuds.

John G. Grotz, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Joseph N. Kempf and Robert T. Simson.

A wedding breakfast at the Buffalo Athletic club was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

The bridal couple are honeymooning in Texas and after December 15 will reside in Pittsburgh where Mr. Stevenson is owner and manager of the Assorted Nutmeats company, wholesale firm in Pittsburgh.

THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving is not a day for soft individuals seeking perfection in earthly living. If there were nothing to be concerned about, how would gratitude be stimulated in the human breast? There would be no contrast to suggest a reason for thankfulness.

It is only as man lives in time of peril, or with suggestions of imminent peril confronting him from which he has thus far escaped, that he feels the urge to bow before a Providence that has guided him safely.

An ideal state would soon pall. Man isn't built to cope with the monotony of unchanging material and spiritual wealth. That is why few rich people are really happy and why a cultural or spiritual achievement is not long satisfying. The urge for something else, possibly better but at least a change, is universal.

The Pilgrims fled from unsettled political conditions which seemed unbearable to them. They faced danger in a risky ocean voyage and in the unknown perils of a wilderness home. In their new surroundings they faced hardships at least the equal of any on earth today.

But they also had individual initiative, community cooperation and determination to win better things. And for such victories as they had over a cruel environment they were grateful. Their spirit of gratitude has endured to this day because of their fortitude in the face of hazards.

It is this fortitude which the world needs to regain—a fortitude born of the mutual realization that this day has many problems that must be solved as the Pilgrims solved them, not by fighting one another but by pledging themselves to strive together to repulse the adversities that beset us.

TORPEDOED TEAL

A Minnesota duck hunter was given quite a start when his wooden decoy started swimming around all by itself. A large pickerel, it turned out, had swallowed the small anchor-weight on the end of the decoy's line.

In Delaware a hunter noticed a greenwing teal—smallest of all the marsh-feeding ducks—whirl in and pitch in front of his blind. There's nothing dancier or prettier than this tiny duck that weighs little more than half a pound and flies like a jack-snipe. But a duck's a duck, and the hunter was about to stand up and flush the teal for a shot when he noticed it was in mortal trouble. From its frantic splashing he deduced a snapping turtle had hold of it.

It can be taken for granted the Minnesota gunner had no special sympathy for the pickerel, a tigerish fish that eats baby ducks when available. But the Delaware gunner didn't see anything funny in the little teal's plight. Putting down his gun, he went to the rescue—too late. When the turtle let go the duck was dead.

He said he just wanted to get the duck away from that blankety-blank turtle so it could fly away! One moment he was intent on shooting it, the next moment on rescuing it from a creature not a bit stealthier than a human duckhunter.

BIG BIRDS GROUNDED

In a week four of the Air Force's B-29 Superforts came to grief. The week before that two crashed. Except in the case of two of the big ships (a pair collided in the fog over Stockton, Calif.) unexplained engine trouble has been the common denominator of the crashes. Now the big brass of the Air Force has issued an order grounding all B-29s that have not undergone engine modernization.

The Air Force isn't saying how many planes this involves. In figures given a House committee last summer, the B-29 strength was supposed to be 10 groups—nearly 400 planes. Of these a certain number had already been "modernized" through installation of new engines.

The original power plants of the wartime B-29s were radical engines turning up 2,200 horsepower each. Later versions are reported to be powered by radials developing at least 3,500 horsepower per engine.

The order has worldwide ramifications. It will pull down weather planes and patrol planes operating in England, the Mediterranean, the Near East and the Far East. How fast the "modernization" and refitting of the obsolete and potentially dangerous ships can be effected is another thing the air force is mum about.

Then there was the old fashioned farmer. The only relief he asked for was relief from the drought.

Russia says America's atom blasts in Japan were not needed. Russia was about to win the war in the Pacific, presumably.

There has been talk in high circles about "dangerous dollar gaps." That is one term from high economies which will be understood by anyone running a family budget.

This atom business seems to get more and more mixed up. The first atom which was split open to disclose its contents seems to have been a modern Pandora's Box.

Grandma says that when she was a girl and they discovered a woman with open-toed shoes they felt so sorry for her they took up a collection to buy her a new pair.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery is in the United States today for the second time in his adventurous career and the American government is slated to get a full report on a question of major importance to the world.

It is simply this: Is the defense of western Europe working as anticipated?

Montgomery of Alamein, who took the scene of his great North African battle as part of his name when he was elevated to the peerage, is a thorough man who is not afraid to give blunt answers when the occasion arises.

Top-Secret Discussions
Most of his discussions with Defense Secretary Louis Johnson and others in Washington undoubtedly will be in the top-secret category.

The public may not be told in detail of the discussions or of future plans for western European armaments. But it is certain nevertheless that Montgomery is going to be under some sharp questioning.

As permanent chairman of the western European chiefs of staffs, Montgomery not only is responsible for the successful rearmament of Europe but for full cooperation among military and civilian leaders.

There have been repeated reports that this cooperation is not all that could be desired.

Communist propagandists naturally have taken the fullest possible advantage of these reports and may have exaggerated them a great deal in the telling.

But there obviously are some "bugs" in the huge undertaking which is supposed to blend the western nations of Europe into a "one for all and all for one" agreement so far as international defense is concerned.

One report says that Montgomery does not get along too well with French First Army Gen. Jean De Lattre De Tassigny—for reasons that never have been explained.

French Critics Object
Some French critics object to the fact that Tassigny must acknowledge Montgomery as his superior despite the likelihood that French and other continental land troops would be responsible for the fighting if any new war should break out.

Others on the continent allege that Great Britain has been miserably in apportioning needed materials to the European countries.

They complain that Britain has been holding tight to the bulk of assistance received from the United States.

In other words, the old charge that Britain will fight to the last Frenchman is being heard again and the accusation is made that

THE MEANING OF THANKSGIVING

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day. Your child from five to seven might be glad to have you read the following to him, and your older child might choose to read it himself.

"Thank you" is what you often say when some person has done something kind to you or for you. It took you a long while to learn to say this always. You may know some child older than you who often forgets to say "thank you."

His mother or father may still be saying it for him, hoping he will have better manners by and by.

When another person says "thank you" after you have given that person something or done something kind to him you like to hear these words. They make you feel good. They make you like this person. They are not just the words but the way they are said that means so much to you when you hear them or say them yourself.

You may smile then with pleasure and the other person may smile, too, but neither of you smiles as if it were funny. You smile because you feel pleased. When you say "thank you" to another person or hear him say these words to you, you don't feel small and young, you feel big and grown-up.

Food We Eat
You and I know that everything we have was given to us by our Heavenly Father; the food we eat, the air we breathe, the clothes we wear, the houses we live in, and all the other things we use and enjoy in this big world. Even the powers we have to use and enjoy all these things and the hearts we have to be grateful for them are gifts from God. So most of us believe.

It must make God glad to hear us thank Him and His must cause us to feel closer to God. He surely hears us whether we say "thank you" loudly or softly or whether we just feel it in silence. I wonder what you feel thankful to God for. Right now you might want to tell Him about it. You can talk to God anywhere at any time that you great Psalm of Praise by heart. Let us say it together here.

Psalm 100
Make a joyful noise unto the Lord all ye lands.
Serve the Lord with gladness:
Come before His presence with singing.
Know ye that the Lord He is God:
It is He that hath made us and not we ourselves;
We are His people and the sheep of His pasture.
Enter into His gates with thanksgiving and into His courts with praise:
Be thankful unto Him and bless His name.
For the Lord is good:
His mercy is everlasting:
And His truth endureth to all generations.

I wonder how many other gems from the Bible you know by heart. I should like to hear about children who have memorized many verses and chapters from the Bible.

Remember the early pioneers and how happy they were to even have food and shelter of their own . . . while we live in comparative luxury and with modern conveniences. "Sure," you say, "that was three hundred years ago, and times have changed." True, but giving thanks for the many earthly blessings isn't a new idea.

Think it over . . . in what other country could you do the things that you do . . . or have the opportunity to express your own ideas and beliefs . . . to work at something that you really enjoy.

Take advantage of the day . . . and silently lift up your hearts to God and thank Him for all that you may have . . . (and it doesn't take money or rank to make one a wealthy person).

the British government and people are concerned chiefly with their own island's defense in event of attempted invasion rather than viewing the European picture as a whole.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle inferentially raised such criticism in his recent interview with French and American newspapers.

Picture Has Changed
He said that the entire picture has changed since Soviet Russia came into possession of the atomic bomb. He added that it was the duty of the United States to inform France immediately and officially just what assistance could be expected from America in event of emergency.

This recalled the historic and plaintive speech of former Premier Paul Reynaud just before France fell to Nazi Germany when he sought to give the impression that the United States had promised to send "clouds of planes" to the aid of his country.

The blunt truth was that in 1940 the United States did not have any "clouds of planes" even for its own use.

From the American viewpoint, Johnson probably will take great pains to ensure that Montgomery does not carry any misconceptions back to Europe with him.

The field marshal probably will be told again that the extent of American assistance—as in the case of the Marshall Plan—is to be predicated upon the amount of defense preparations that European nations take on their own initiative.

In any case, the peppery little soldier's visit should clear up a lot of tangled questions.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR NOVICE CARVERS

As one who knows his way about A turkey on Thanksgiving Day, For carvers all just starting out, I have some helpful words to say.

Remember breast and wings are light.

The dark meat on the legs is found.

If children at the table plead For drumsticks, as they ought to, surely do.

This expert counsel you should heed:

Remember there are only two. When several youngsters shout at you:

"I want the wishbone!" Carry on!

Let mother tell you what to do. The largest turkey has but one.

A knife that's sharp is best to use. But this I tell you with regret.

That, strangely, women folk refuse.

To leave alone the carving set. One more important fact to learn.

I trust that this will make it clear.

If you forget it, plates return; The stuffings' hidden at the rear.

Be blind to every scornful grin. Be deaf to every witty crack.

That turkey slices should be thin. Not chunks that anyone can hack.

Make sure that every plate you heap.

With good things from the pantry shelf.

Be generous, but contrive to keep Your portion for yourself.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

An anonymous cynic in the Columbia Jester sighs. "She laughs at his jokes, each story and pun; she crows with delight when he's clowning in fun. She never says 'don't,' gets piqued or enraged. In fact, it's apparent—they're only engaged!"

Red Skelton has discovered the longest word in the English language. It's the one that follows the announcement, "And now a word from our sponsor." . . . Robert Kintner adds that announcers themselves always have small hands, we pass for station identification.

A comedian's agent once warned him, "The next time you ad lib, Milt, don't rattle the paper so much." . . . During the warm-up period of an "Information, Please" program, Guest-Star George Kauffman unaccountably failed to answer a single question.

Just before the show went on the air, Clifton Fadiman asked kiddingly, "May I ask what you have been doing for the past fifteen minutes, Mr. K?" "You may," answered Mr. K. "I've been listening to 'Information, Please'."

Thanksgiving again . . . how many of us are actually giving thanks . . . we have such an easy life and enjoy so many comforts that we become complacent and let "the other fellow do it."

Some people get material things in life quite easily, either by position or just savoir faire . . . others get rewarded only after hard work and sacrifice . . . but how many of the people really are thankful for what they have . . . not only their home, family, or money but their health, and chance to live in free, democratic country. A country where a man has the right to live and earn a just reward for his efforts . . . where, when the sun sets beyond the horizon, you know that it will rise again on a free world.

Remember the early pioneers and how happy they were to even have food and shelter of their own . . . while we live in comparative luxury and with modern conveniences. "Sure," you say, "that was three hundred years ago, and times have changed." True, but giving thanks for the many earthly blessings isn't a new idea.

Think it over . . . in what other country could you do the things that you do . . . or have the opportunity to express your own ideas and beliefs . . . to work at something that you really enjoy.

Take advantage of the day . . . and silently lift up your hearts to God and thank Him for all that you may have . . . (and it doesn't take money or rank to make one a wealthy person).

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

French Leadership Lacking

PARIS, France, Nov. 23.—Before the present "government" of Premier George Bidault was formed, France was 19 days without a government.

Most Frenchmen appear to have accepted this state of comfortable anarchy with a philosophic shrug. After all, they say, has not France always been an individualistic nation, resentful of the powers exercised by the judge and the tax collector?

How long the present feeble patchwork of a government will last is anyone's guess. It may fall tomorrow. Or it may last until after the Christmas holidays.

As Bidault, who is typically French, said himself at a recent luncheon, he just happened to walk into the office of President Vincent Auriol when the search for a cent Auriol premier had reached a desperate stage. Any one of 42 million Frenchmen might have walked in at that moment and found himself tapped for the job.

No Political Leadership
But despite the philosophy of the French individualist, there is tragedy in the fact that this country has produced no political leadership since the end of the war. Nor does it seem likely to produce any.

Even the myth-shrouded figure of General Charles de Gaulle is receding into the distance with only a claqué of right-wing Socialists to keep the hero-worship going.

Beneath the bustling surface of recovery, which is truly impressive, are deep-seated fears that oppress all the politicians. These underlying fears may partly explain the paralysis of political life today.

One of these fears is the old, obsessive preoccupation with German power. As that power revives in spite of the devastation of war, French nervousness also revives.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, almost the only man in the government with any strength of integrity, was partly persuaded at the recent meeting with Acheson and Bevin that western Germany should be brought into the European community. The three allied high commissioners in Germany were given some bargaining power with the Adenauer regime in Bonn to scale down the present program of dismantling German industry.

Fear of Germany
But Schuman was only partly and reluctantly persuaded. One reason for his reluctance was that the Socialists, who are still under the tutelage of Leon Blum, might pull out of the government that agreed to full German accord.

The fear of Germany is directly related to the worsening relations with Britain. Back of the struggle over whether Britain does or does not intend to collaborate in "integrating Europe's economy is a deep suspicion of British strategy in the event of another war. The belief is that the pattern of 1940 would be repeated, with British troops evacuating the continent before the invaders to make a real stand in Britain proper.

Many of the French I have talked with express the fervent hope that America will take a stronger line to bring the French and British together. This can only be done, they say, by direct participation of America in both the economic and military councils of Europe. The time has passed, they argue, when America can be a

Brings Back Early Days

(By HENRY McEMORE)

As to whether the government is prosecuting or persecuting the A & P grocery chain is something for the courts to decide, but as an alumnus of this chain I feel impelled to say a few words in defense of my alma mater.

I won my varsity apron as a clerk for this chain at an early age, and I never pass one of its stores without feeling as I imagine a Groton or an Andover graduate does when he strolls by one of his old school buildings.

Remembers First Customer

I shall never forget the first customer I waited on. I was about fourteen then, and worked Friday afternoons and Saturdays. A woman came in and asked for a bottle of ketchup, which was on a shelf out of my reach. I picked up the device with which boxes of cereal and the like are lifted from top shelves and grabbed a bottle of ketchup with it. It held onto the ketchup just long enough to get it directly above the woman's head and then dropped it.

Either the customer's head was too hard, or the bottle was poorly made, because the bottle broke on contact and the lady suddenly took on the appearance of a mammoth shrimp cocktail. I expected to be fired but I wasn't. But I drew a punishment from the manager. From then on out it would be my job on Saturday nights to dress the windows after closing, and closing time in those days was eleven o'clock.

It didn't take me long to become the world's fastest and worst window dresser. At first I went to a great deal of pains, stacking up canned goods in fancy pyramids, and decorating them with streamers of crepe-paper ribbon.

Devised New System

But that sort of window dressing was tiresome and took a long time. Within three Saturday nights I had devised a window which, to this day, cannot be excelled for unattractiveness and minimum of labor involved. It consisted of two or three dozen brooms and mops propped up by stacks of boxes of corn flakes. Once in a while, just to show I wasn't in a rut, I would scatter bars of laundry soap about.

When I was a senior in high school I still was working for the store, which meant I couldn't get out on Saturday nights. At the time this nearly broke my heart because I was madly in love with a girl, and I used to cry among my brooms, mops, and corn flakes at the thought of her being out at Saturday night dances with my deadly rival.

He finally won her for his own, and I saw them a few years ago for the first time since they had been married. One look at her and I felt like dropping to my knees and thanking Heaven that the A&P had given me a job which disrupted my courtship. She had a face like a Saturday Special, and my former rival looked as downtrodden as a Henry Wallace supporter.

It would be nice if I were able to make this a real Horatio Alger tale, with me moving from junior clerk to manager, and finally changing my name to Hartford and owning the whole shebang. But the truth is I was fired. I ate so much of the store's goods for free that there came a day when my apron would no longer fit me, and I had to go.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

Of course everybody knows more about teaching than the teachers does.

We all like to tell the principal how the school should be run. Sometimes the principal and teachers are not very well satisfied with the way things are going either.

It would perhaps be better all around if sick teachers and sick pupils were absent rather than present.

If Bill has a bad cold and sneezes and coughs all the time, his absence for a day or two might be good for the school.

It might interfere with Bill's attendance record but might keep some of the other scholars from getting sick.

"Prevention is better than cure." "A stitch in time saves nine."

The teacher writes all these sentences on the black board but sometimes it is pretty hard to do what they say.

BIBLE THOUGHT

He came unto his own and his own received him not. But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name.—John 1: 11, 12.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

There seems to be a widespread idea among an ever growing number of people that the reading of the newspapers and magazines, the listening to radio commentators and the looking at television forums is supposed to take the place of thinking.

Naturally, being a so-called columnist myself, I want you all to have the highest respect for columnists.

Radio commentators and television "analysts" likewise have their place in modern life—I may be one myself some day.

But columnists, commentators and analysts are like the architects who plan the building.

They furnish the idea. They draw the plans. They are also the bricklayers—and every word they write or speak is another brick that has to be laid so that the building may be completed.

But a building is of no earthly use unless it is occupied and made to function for its intended purpose. Newspapers, magazines, radio television, are the buildings.

Without thinking after reading, listening or looking, you are apt to become the victim of propaganda or rabble rousing. You are liable to become infected with the poison of prejudice.

Remember that we who make words and thoughts and opinions our business are not supermen or women. We are simply manufacturers and merchants. We make and sell FOOD for thought. You have to eat it and digest it.

Tests Refused Candidates Who Have No Chains On Their Cars

Seventeen of 29 candidates for a motor vehicle operator's test passed and won a license when state police held examinations at the Armory course.

Several licensed operators who drove their cars so learners could take a test were refused the opportunity because, with streets covered with snow, no chains were on their tires.

They must have chains attached when snow is on the ground and the cars to be used in a test must be in line at 3:30 p. m. to insure a test before 4 p. m. when the police leave the station for Butler.

WAY TO CONSCIENCE THROUGH AUTOMOBILE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Judge James R. Miller, of nearby Bethesda, Md., police court, believes the way to a youth's conscience is through his car.

Miller suspended a more usual sentence against amateur boxer and football player Gene G. Abernathy, 18, if his father would not permit him to drive until February 1. The father agreed.

Abernathy's alleged offense had nothing to do with the automobile. He was charged with slapping Miss Connie Butts, a beauty contest contestant.

France To Withdraw From Defense Pact If Germany Rearms

Information Minister Says France Could Not Remain In Such A System

PARIS, Nov. 23.—(INS)—French Information Minister Pierre-Henri Teitgen warned inferentially Tuesday that France would withdraw from the North Atlantic defense pact if Germany is rearmed.

Teitgen told a foreign press association luncheon that France could not remain within a system of security which would involve the rearmament of Germany.

"We regret that in this connection there is uncertainty on the part of some of our allies."

"Assuredly Germany should participate in certain European organizations. But we cannot admit under any pretext or any hypothesis that anyone would dream of her rearmament or participation in the Atlantic Pact."

"Make no mistake. France could not remain within a system of security which would involve the rearmament of Germany."

from America have done great harm.

The announcement that Russia set off an atomic explosion gave a new impetus to current fears. While comparatively little has been said about it publicly, the effect has been profound. Even the members of the French Communist party are reported to have said privately that they feared the consequences of Russia having achieved atomic success.

Whether America could by asserting her leadership more positively resolve many of these doubts and fears, a passing visitor can hardly say. But one thing is obvious. That is that the time for taking decisive action is passing and the opportunity may not occur again under anything like the present circumstances.

Tells Of Reaching Sole Plane Crash Survivor

A Norwegian factory worker, first person to reach the Dutch airliner which crashed Sunday with a loss of 34 lives, heard a weeping child and found 11-year-old Isaac Allal—the only survivor—frightened and clinging to the wreckage that entombed his playmates. The dramatic story of the grim find follows.

By HILDINJ MARTINSEN
(Copyright, 1949, By International News Service)

FILTVET, Norway, Nov. 23.—I knew something had gone wrong Sunday night.

I heard a plane just over the tops of the trees outside my home in Filvet.

I heard about all those children aboard and I determined to help find them.

I wondered who would be the first man to discover the plane.

I had a feeling the crash came immediately after I had heard the plane over my house.

Search Is Started

So I and my comrades concentrated on searching the narrow forest valley nearby.

It was cloudy and the ground was wet when I found the first piece of wreckage today. The plane was not far away.

There was a silence, as of death, all around. It was a scene of desolation, there, deep in the forest.

But in a few moments I heard a child weeping. We had new hope.

It was Isaac Allal. He had crept into the back part of the plane.

He was covered with oil and mud and was frightened.

His hands clenched a piece of wreckage.

Isaac was crying when we found him, wedged in between two seats near the charred bodies of the other children.

No Food in 42 Hours

He had eaten no food for 42 hours. We found some chocolate and marmalade among the debris and gave it to him. He was starved and ate it quickly.

We got him out and tried to give him some milk.

All the others were dead. Some were partly burned by fire which broke out after the plane crashed.

Only one person was thrown clear of the wreckage.

We found the bodies of the others, including the Dutch crewmen, the children who were to have gone on to Israel later, and the Red Cross sisters with them. The plane must have struck the hillside while flying at a height below the 900-foot high mountains in the area.

Hundreds of bits of wreckage were scattered about.

I hope I never see such a sight again—all those bodies of kids.

Woman Leaps From Pittsburgh Bridge

EAST PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Relatives blamed a nervous condition for the death leap of Mrs. Ann Huzdovich, who yesterday became the 20th person to commit suicide from the Westinghouse bridge in East Pittsburgh.

The 26th-year-old housewife, who was the mother of a six-month-old girl, phoned two of her sisters before she left her nearby Turtle Creek home.

To one, who is known as 'Honey', she said:

"Honey, I love you all."

To the other she said that she was "tired of it all" and was going "to end it." Then she went to the Westinghouse bridge and jumped from the highest span 200 feet to her death.

He sisters said Mrs. Huzdovich had been very nervous since the birth of her daughter.

California was admitted into the Union as a state in 1850.

GIRL VISITS MAN'S HOME-TOWN

"I am in love with a girl who lives about a hundred miles from my home. We have known each other for only two months and are not engaged. During that time I have been going to see her, staying at her home. I should like to have her meet my friends here but do not know whether it would be correct for her to come here occasionally and stay at a hotel for a weekend. If it is all right, how much of her expenses (hotel, train fare, etc.) should I assume? We are both in our late twenties." Answer: Of course, it is the man's place always to pursue woman. So you should, especially during the early stages of your courtship, go to see her in her own home and not expect her to come here to visit, risking the possibility of her friends and yours accusing her of "running after you". When your love affair is on a more permanent basis, there is no reason why she should not come to visit you and meet your family and friends.

If you live with your parents or have a married sister where she might be comfortable and "protected from gossip" invite her to stay either in your home or at the home of your sister. If you have no suitable home in which to entertain her and since you are both of a responsible age, you may arrange for her to stay at a hotel, you assuming all of her expenses, including railroad fare.

Young girls should not travel on such a mission unaccompanied by an older member of their family.

Question: When not in use, where should the knife and fork be placed? Answer: They should be laid parallel to each other on the plate. Do not put the tip of the knife or fork on the side of the plate with the handles resting on the table.

An estimated 1,500,000 potential years of life are lost annually by those who die of tuberculosis.

President Says Food Key To World Peace

By ROBERT NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—President Truman said Tuesday afternoon that world peace can be achieved in great part if the hungry peoples of the world are adequately fed.

The chief executive told a conference of the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization that one of the world's most important tasks today is to increase its food supply. He said:

"That task is central to the whole broad effort to raise living standards and achieve greater freedom for all mankind."

"All the work of the United Nations and its many associated organizations is important in building a peaceful world, but none is of more significance than yours."

"If by working together in this organization, we can create an abundance of food for all countries, we shall bring health, longer lives, and greater happiness to mankind everywhere."

"Four Point" Plan

Mr. Truman again underscored the efforts of his administration to make available the technological knowledge of this country to underdeveloped areas of the world under his "Four Point" plan.

Part of the Point Four proposal is to restore lands to fertility and to open other areas to widespread agricultural production. He pointed to the vast increase in agricultural production achieved in the United States during the war years when the United States became the world's greatest source of food supply.

He said that this country had achieved "an agricultural revolution" through introduction of new techniques, new hybrid varieties of crops, better livestock, and the introduction of better fertilizers and weed and insect killers.

Told Food Experts

The president told the food experts:

"If this can be done in our country, think of what can be done to increase production in most parts of the world where modern methods and modern machinery are relatively unknown."

He said that in the beginning, where Point Four is applied to agricultural development, the greatest advance will probably result from elementary improvements such as the control of animal diseases and the introduction of machinery for farming to replace ancient hand cultivation methods. He said:

"Our experience, our knowledge, our technical experts are all available to you."

Mr. Truman pointed to the international wheat agreement as a "practical means" for bringing about better distribution of world wheat supplies.

He expressed hope that the International Trade association will be established soon "to help expand world trade by carrying on a continuous and systematic attack on trade barriers."

Mr. Truman said that one of the tasks which the FAO should undertake is means of moving temporary surpluses from countries where they are not needed to countries where they are badly needed. He said:

"We pledge ourselves to work wholeheartedly with the other members in attempting to devise practical and effective methods for solving it."

FOREST TREES PROTECT SPRINGS, WATERSHEDS

On the farm trees protect springs and in like manner on larger areas they preserve watersheds. Even where springs have dried up with the removal of trees, the planting of a new stand of trees is known to have revived the springs.

Leaves and other litter from trees cover the ground with a mulch which sponges up the rainfall and melting snow, and by retarding runoff encourages a maximum amount of the moisture to soak into the ground. The result is natural drainage underground in tiny streams which converge to form springs and larger surface streams.

Springs, streams, and reservoirs which are tree-rimmed have a minimum of silt deposits because there is little surface runoff. This means less erosion, better fishing, and better recreation of all kinds. The accumulating litter under trees and their vast network of small roots protect the land from washing. For that reason, trees frequently are planted for erosion control.

Forest trees grow on poor ground, and at the same time actually improve the fertility of the land. Hence, trees can be grown and harvested as a cash crop and the land restored to regular cultivation in much improved condition.

The Agricultural Extension Office will supply further information on the planting and maintenance of forest trees, and where demonstrations in this work are requested will arrange for them. Incidentally, it is suggested that tree-orders for spring delivery be placed early. Nursery stocks are larger than for a number of years, but they may not be large enough to satisfy all demands for all varieties.

East Brook Plans Union Service

Union Thanksgiving service of the East Brook United Presbyterian, Methodist and Rich Hill Presbyterian churches will be held Wednesday evening in the East Brook Methodist church.

The service will be at eight o'clock with Rev. A. B. Weisz of the Rich Hill Presbyterian church bringing the Thanksgiving message. Also participating in the service will be Rev. Hugh G. Snodgrass of the East Brook U.P. church and Rev. Owen W. Shields, pastor of the host church.

Special Thanksgiving music will be provided by the choir of the East Brook Methodist church under the direction of Mrs. Mae McConaghy.

Mrs. James Fink will be the organist. A free will thank offering will be received to support the chaplain's work in the Lawrence County Home.

Suggests MacArthur Take Over Case Of Consul Angus Ward

Rep. James Fulton Says Foreign Policy In Far East Completely Bankrupt

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Rep. James G. Fulton, Pittsburgh Republican, suggested that the matter of the arrest of U. S. Consul General Angus Ward by the Communists in China be turned over to General Douglas MacArthur.

The Congressman, who last week offered himself as a hostage for Ward, said America's foreign policy in the far east is "completely bankrupt" in a speech before the Woman's City Club in Pittsburgh.

Now is the time to turn the whole affair over to General MacArthur," Fulton asserted. "He is in charge of American defenses in the far east. He knows the orient and he has been successful in dealing with the Communists."

The Pennsylvaniaan said he offered himself as a hostage to focus attention on the state department's "do-nothing" policy in the far east. Fulton said he was informed by the state department that the Communists would not consider him a fair substitute for Ward, and he quoted Walton Butterworth, head of the department's far eastern division, as saying it would continue its "waiting policy for the next few weeks."

Ward was jailed almost a month ago in Manchuria and efforts to obtain his release have failed.

Guest Night Observed By Council Of Home Economics Women Monday Evening

Guest Night was observed by the Council of Home Economics Women at their November meeting held at the Nurses Home, Jameson Memorial hospital, Tuesday evening. Mrs. Pauline Elliott introduced Thomas J. Cunningham, much in demand for his instructive and original ideas in flower arrangements.

Prefacing his demonstrations with general rules, Mr. Cunningham arranged a copper pot of variegated foliage, some of which is flown daily to the east from Puerto Rico and Oregon. Snapdragons in low bowls to suit the small table; chrysanthemums in high shades for the Thanksgiving board and buffet table; artistic Christmas displays using candles, figurines with colored and glittering accessories completed the demonstration.

Arrangements Made
Mr. Cunningham rapidly reconstructed the Christmas arrangement which captured second prize at the recent exhibit of wholesale florists held in Youngstown. Into a styrofoam base a madonna bust was centered with background of pine, white candles and weeds flocked in white. On a lower level, choir boys added a note of adoration.

Miss Virginia Pierson presided over the business session. Miss Ruth Wallace, education chairman, announced that a report of a recent survey of opportunities for women trained in home economics and the local plan for carrying this information to high school will appear in the December issue of the Home Economics Journal.

Refreshments in the Thanksgiving motif were served by the hostesses, Miss Charlotte Savage, Miss Ann Rice and Mrs. Irwin Stunkard.

VIOLATOR GETS JUST WHAT HE ASKED FOR

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 23.—(INS)—William T. Gillihan asked for it and Judge Robert C. Baltzell hustled him off for a four-year "treatment" in a federal penitentiary.

Gillihan, a 26-year-old Franklin, Ind., used auto dealer, was convicted of violating the National Bank Act by getting $27,000 in loans on worthless cars.

The dealer told the federal judge at Indianapolis that he would like a quick sentence so that he could get medical attention for a football injury.

Baltzell obliged—with a four year sentence.

What a whale of a difference when Oil does it all!

WHAT DO WE MEAN when we say that in Dynaflo Drive* "oil does it all"?

Simply that in Dynaflo Drive, the spinning of oil in the Dynaflo unit does what you have long needed shifting gears to accomplish. For instance—

Here you are starting out. In most cars, you have to throw out a clutch and shift into low gear to get starting power. In Dynaflo, you simply set your lever in Driving position—and nudge the gas treadle.

Oil spins in a sealed drum to give you all the power needed for starting—but there's no transmission gear-whine whatever.

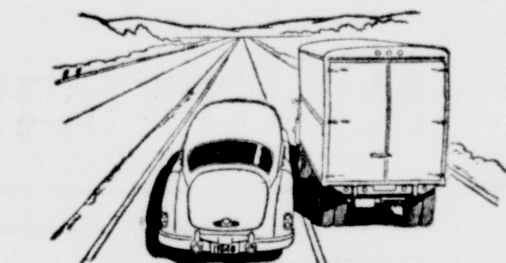

Now you are beginning to move. In most cars, you shift manually—into second, then third—each time repeating that press-the-pedal-move-the-lever routine.

With Dynaflo, oil simply spins in a different path within the Dynaflo unit and you move into cruising pace easy as a bird taking off.

*Standard in ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost in SUPRA and SPECIAL models.

When better automobiles are built
BUICK will build them

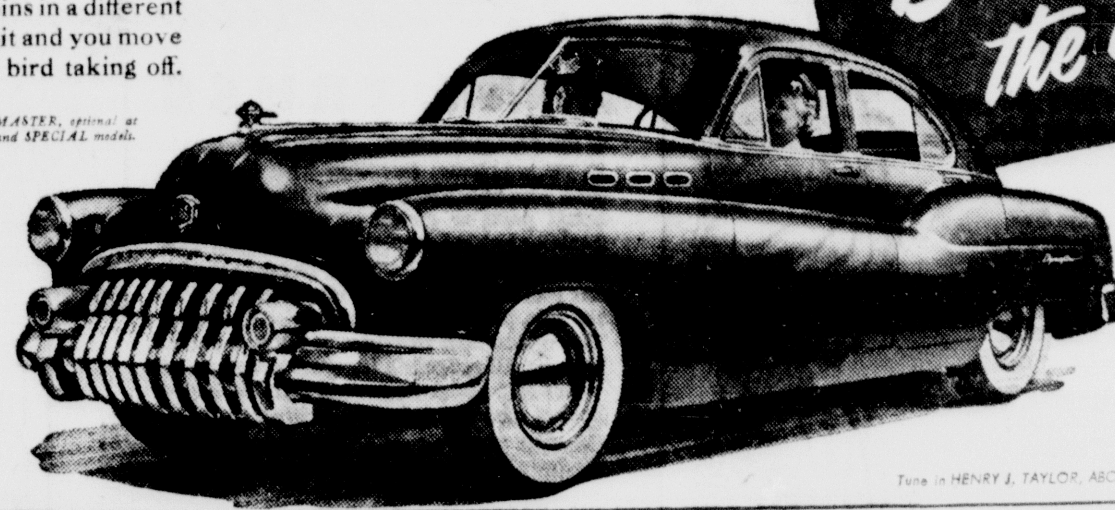

Here's a slow-moving vehicle you want to pass. In other cars you may have to shift again—with a definite loss of forward motion. That means a lag before you get action—and maybe another shift back into high after you have passed.

Not so with Dynaflo. Just step on the throttle, and spinning oil takes the path to give you extra power for passing. Response is as fast as engine response—practically instantaneous.

Here's a common traffic situation. Usually you go into second or low—in order to get a good fast getaway.

With Dynaflo, just press the gas treadle, never touching the shift lever. Spinning oil will find the proper channel of flow to give you getaway power—power that's ever-smooth—and great enough to step you out smartly and with unbroken, velvety smoothness.

Thanksgiving

BY ANNE MARY LAWLER

Lord God, we give Thee thanks this day,
Humbly, in our faltering way—
Not with the graceful wordy arts,
But simply, deeply, with our hearts—
As little children mindful of
A Father's broad and boundless love.

We thank Thee, Lord, for everything—
The shining miracle of Spring,
For green grass, cool and kindly rains,
Stars, and soft clouds in silken skeins,
For tall trees, patient and precise,
That point the way to Paradise.

We give Thee thanks for life's rich years,
For courage, and for cleansing tears,
For faith that builds us tall and strong,
For laughter, and the gift of song—
And most of all—that we are free
To bring our grateful hearts to Thee.

Dear Lord, we give Thee thanks for youth,
For trust and tenderness and truth,
For brotherhood—that we may tread
A peaceful earth, and break the bread
Of friendship with our fellow men;
We give Thee thanks for love.

AMEN.

Court House

Superior Court Upholds Lamoree

Affirms Decree Approving Commissioners' Sale Of Seventh Ward Property

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

In an opinion handed down Tuesday by the state superior court the decree of Judge John G. Lamoree in the sale of county owned land in the seventh ward is affirmed.

The case was taken up on an appeal by the city of New Castle following Judge Lamoree's decree that the county commissioners were within their rights in selling a large tract of land in the seventh ward.

The county had sold the property to the Lawrence County Co-operative which organization proposes to put up a business building there. The ground had been used for a baseball diamond and when the county offered the land for sale the city bid the limit of taxes owed. The Co-Op then raised the bid and was awarded the property subject to the approval of the court.

A hearing in the matter was held, the city contending that the county had no right to sell the property and ownership was really vested in the New Castle school board. Judge Lamoree held in favor of the commissioners but the check for the sale of the property was held until the superior court could hear the appeal of the city. The costs of the appeal are to be paid out of the money received for the property.

OFFICIAL BOARD FINISHES

The official recount board has finished its work of tallying the election count and the books are now in the hands of the county commissioners.

MONEY IN HAND

Recently a statement was made in this column that the county's bonded indebtedness was down to $67,000 and on July 1, 1951, would be entirely liquidated.

The question was raised as to why the county did not pay off the bonds now and thus save interest.

The bonds are non-callable and therefore cannot be retired until the date of expiration. Sometime ago the county wrote to all the bond holders asking if they would accept payment for their holdings now. The interest rate is 4 1/2 per cent and quite naturally the bond holders were unwilling to the liquidation until the due date.

In the sinking fund, now, there is more than enough to pay off the bonds and in making the budget this year there will be no necessity of levying a tax for principal payment or interest.

RESULT CHANGED

Due to an error in the vote tally in the second precinct of Shenango township Homer Houk (R) was shown to be a winner for supervisor on November 8.

A check of the returns shows that Charles Benson (D) was elected. In the original count Mr. Houk was shown to have 696 and Mr. Benson 681. Apparently in putting down the totals one of the board mistook 216 for 260, the latter being Benson's vote. A slight error was also made in one of the other precincts. The totals now read Houk 699, Benson 735.

Hear Best Words Of Their Lives

Injured Son Says 'I Know You' To Parents, First Words Since July 15

DAYTON, O., Nov. 23.—(INS)—Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Reynolds of Cincinnati heard the best words of their lives when their 23-year-old son said "I know you."

Their four-months vigil at a Dayton, O., veterans' hospital bedside ended Monday when Glen Reynolds looked at them and spoke for the first time since last July 15.

Young Reynolds suffered a brain injury in an auto crash near Monroe, O., on that date and has been in a coma since the accident. Until he recovered consciousness, he had been fed intravenously or by a tube.

Doctors feared last month that he would die, but they said his spinal and brain nerve centers are healing now and he may recover completely.

The words that made life worthwhile for his parents were:

"I know you,—you're my father. And you,—you're my mother."

Later in the day young Reynolds also spoke briefly with his wife, May and a four-year-old son, Glen, Jr.

Tokyo Newspaper Says Chiang Not Hiding In Japan

TOKYO, Nov. 23.—(INS)—The Tokyo newspaper Ashahi reported Tuesday police are investigating rumors that China's Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek is "hiding" in Japan.

The rumors, according to the paper, are to the effect that Chiang had taken up secret residence in a former Japanese prince's hot springs villa in the Hakone mountains near Mount Fuji. Ashahi quoted the police as saying:

"Investigations reveal that Chiang is not yet in Japan, at least not in the Hakone district."

The rumors, as described by Ashahi, had it that former Nationalist Premier Wu Teh-Chen had arranged Chiang's purported Japanese retreat last August when Wu visited Japan, and that other Chinese agents were negotiating to purchase the villa.

SAVING BEST TURKEYS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Many of the finest young turkeys are not slated for the Thanksgiving festive board.

Turkey raisers are saving the best as possible medal winners in the 1950 Pennsylvania Farm Show January 9-13.

The Farm Show commission said that since Pennsylvania ranks tops in the eastern United States in gobbling production producers show increasing interest in exhibiting their prize birds.

Although most of the sun's energy expended in evaporating water cannot be recovered, the amount theoretically recoverable is about 54 times our total requirements.

Three Good Reasons Why He Can't Serve

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Otto Kerner, Jr., sent his regrets and three reasons why he had to turn down a summons to jury duty in Chicago.

Kerner wrote Cook county jury commissioners Monday that he could not serve because:

1—He was a lawyer.

2—He is a National Guard officer.

3—He is a federal government official.

Then, as a U. S. attorney, he returned to the courtroom where he is directing the government's conspiracy and mail fraud trial of mail fraud trial of Preston Tucker and seven associates.

CLEANERS DREAM, MONEY IN STREET

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Nov. 23.—(INS)—H. Swampscott's street-cleaners wielded their brooms just a bit more carefully than usual Tuesday—it wasn't entirely a matter of civic pride.

They were looking for the remainder of $900 cash which was strewn over the streets yesterday by a strong wind.

The money was swept from the lap of Mrs. William G. O'Brien, a bank teller, who had planned to deposit the cash. Passersby joined Mrs. O'Brien in the scramble to recover the bills, but when the hunt ended last night only $350 had been accounted for.

In the years just before World War II, more than a third of the world's population could not produce enough to provide an average income as high as 5 per cent of the $598 per capita enjoyed by Americans.

Of two evils, choose neither—from the Dublin Opinion.

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)
(Distributed By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Well, sir, if you have been thinking, as I have, that Hollywood parties are just one mad round of marijuana, chases through the girls' dormitory, and giggles from the tall shrubbery, you ought to be ashamed of yourself.

My head is at half-mast today, as I acknowledge the grave injustice I have been doing the movie colony in imagining that as soon as the guests gather it is all over but the referees and the razzlin'.

Eyes Have Been Opened

My eyes have been opened by a book hot off the press called "Party Games," a tome written by Margie McNeill, a belle of radio and Hubie Boscowitz, the international bridge expert.

In their laudable endeavor to make each and every reader the life of the party, Miss McNeill and Mr. Boscowitz describe the favorite parlor games of more than a score of Hollywood notables, including Clark Gable, Gregory Peck, Lana Turner and Joseph Cotten.

I don't know just when the indelible lipstick was replaced by the lead pencil in Hollywood. But it is obvious kissing games are out, not to say gauche or even repugnant to Hollywood's haut monde.

The intellectual ferment of Hollywood drives its queens and matinee idols into involved evening and variations of Twenty Questions, Categories, Anagrams, "Who Said That?" and "Information Please."

It is plain from this book that pencils are dishied out with the cocktails instead of salted peanuts, and from that moment every alert star is on his own.

"Before and After"

Over at Miss Joan Crawford's house, the brain trusters play "Before and After," a game of such intellectual travail involving the names of the great (mainly Hollywood) that no one has time for a friendly little pinch here, a pat there, or a tussle on the stairs.

La there is no time for simple dalliance on a night out at Miss Joan Fontaine's home. "Who Am I?" is Miss Fontaine's favorite game. She pins the name of some other famous person on the back of each famous person who is her guest and then the hapless wight must spend the night hours trying to guess who he is. Get it?

You get a pencil with your hat check when you spend an evening with Miss Lana Turner. And you play something called "Trailers," an intellectual orgy that not only requires pencils but paper, too! Gad, no time for mischief in the Turner manse.

It may come as some surprise to you, as it did to me that getting a Hollywood party "started" is a major project. Obviously, movie stars arrive at a party and just sit down like so many bumps on a log. There's no self-starter in a limousine-load.

Rushes To Rescue

During those frantic moments when stars just sit and glower at each other, Miss Anita Louise rushes to the rescue with a game called "Fumbles" in which each gentleman removes his necktie and gives it to a lady.

Meanwhile the busy little hostess is giving each male guest a length of thread and needle. When Anita Louise blows the whistle, the lady starts tying her partner's necktie—around his neck naturally.

And all the time, the poor man is trying to thread the needle. I don't know quite what the object of the needle is. Maybe to fend off the dame if she gets fresh.

Clark Gable's favorite game, so the book says, is called "The Quiz Game" and is so depressingly mental that it guarantees to keep the players out all night doing nothing but answering questions.

All in all, I feel that Miss McNeill and Mr. Boscowitz have done Hollywood a great service with their new book. It will certainly make even Clark a dull boy and prove that all work and no play will lead to nervous exhaustion, hypertension and ulcers as quick as wine and women.

In the meantime, would anyone in the audience like to play a good, fast game of postoffice?

Father Strangles Five-Year-Old Son

Carbondale Man Admits Killing Son, Police Say He Is Mentally Deranged

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 23.—(INS)—The father of four children Tuesday told police he had strangled his five-year-old son at Carbondale.

Coroner Paul E. Kubasko said Paul Sladicka, 42, admitted killing his son, Thomas, shortly after taken into custody by police. Carbondale Police Chief F. P. Judge said Sladicka has been mentally deranged ever since a former family home was demolished by a runaway truck two years ago.

Two older children were not harmed as they slept. The boy's death was discovered Tuesday morning by Mrs. Stephen Yanchek, Sladicka's sister, who went to the house for a daily visit. Mrs. Sladicka and a 17-year-old son were at work.

Pennsylvania today is the nation's leading helicopter manufacturing center and is the home of the largest light airplane plant in the world.

Health Secretary Orders Mine Owners To Stop Drainage

Mine Operators Must Receive Permission From State Sanitary Water Board

HARRISBURG.—Dr. Morris W. Vaux, health secretary and state sanitary water board chairman, has ordered four additional mine operators to cease discharge of any mine drainage to the streams until they shall have received permits for their operations.

In the order, Dr. Vaux points out that it is in violation of the clean stream law to open or reopen a mine without a permit and "continuation of operations will render you liable to the penalties provided by the law."

Warning Issued To Check Wells

HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.—(INS)—A warning went out today to users of private water supplies to double check wells for pollution in view of below-average rainfall.

Health secretary Morris W. Vaux said the receding water level might deposit polluting materials on well walls.

He said rainfall was four and one-half inches below normal. "If wells and cisterns are not well maintained pollution will seep through the walls and contaminate the household water supply," he warned.

"Should the water in any instance become turbid," he declared, "it is of vital importance that the water be boiled before being used until the cause of the condition can be located and corrections made to eliminate any possibility of contamination."

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 23.—Off the celluloid cuff—Bing Crosby's oldest boy, Gary, panics his classmates at a northern California school with take-offs on his old man. He also plays fullback on the football team.

Katherine Grayson and her sister are feuding over songs they want her to sing for her new flicker. Don't believe that malarkey about Montgomery Clift owning two suits. He's one of Hollywood's best-dressed gents.

Glamazon Dorothy Ford, starting a new television series as a lady detective, will do the same role on the screen. Audie Murphy is suffering from stomach ulcers. Vic Damone, the new singing sensation, has eight movies lined up for him. Jeanne Crain, who is 26, portrays a 14-year-old pitiable cutie in "Cheaper by the Dozen."

Oatmeal "Quicksand" The "quicksand" into which Porter Hall fell in "Intruder in the Dust," actually was oatmeal. An oatmeal outfit just mailed him 500 pounds of the breakfast food, which porter doesn't like and will give away. Robert Young has been named "Father of the Year" by the Parent League of America. The Youngs have four youngsters.

Joan Davis' doctor told her she is suffering from amaxaphobia, the fear of being hit by a truck. "Am-axaphobias," said Joan, "are most prevalent in Los Angeles where drivers see spots in front of their eyes as big as people."

Real Stunt Man Blog—Stunt Man Art French is Hollywood's ace cat-walk and girder artist. His climbing career started when he worked as a painter on the Golden Gate bridge. His first flicker was "Mutiny on the Bounty" for which he was required to scale towering yardarms and perform daredevil rope work. He has climbed several tortuous paper mache peaks on studio sound stages but he also has climbed Mt. Whitney three times. Next year he wants to tackle the Matterhorn. Art keeps in trim, he swears, by seeing old Douglas Fairbanks pictures.

France's television station uses the Eiffel Tower as its transmitter site.

Economist Calls Government Shmoo

Says All You Have To Do Is Ask Government For What You Want—You'll Get It

HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.—(INS)—The government is a shmoo. Dr. Herrell Degraff, Cornell university economist, told a statewide meeting of managers of farm bureau co-operatives last night that "all you have to do is ask—vote—for what you want and it shall be rendered unto you. The government is a shmoo."

Degraff then blasted the Brannan farm subsidy plan "as close to moral bankruptcy as anything that was ever seriously proposed to Congress."

He called price supports unrealistic to solve farmers' problems because "they are distorting our agriculture and because of that it needs more and more supports and controls to keep going."

He said price supports of 60 per cent of parity would do, but that 90 per cent support leads to chaos.

Health Wanted

Liberal reward to anyone who lost health.

It is hopeless, alas, to seek health in the classified columns. It is a treasure far too precious to be bartered.

If you have health, cling to it above all other possessions; if it has escaped you, seek now to regain it. Turn at once to a physician in whom you have confidence; then give him your fullest cooperation.

And we hope, of course, that you will bring your physician's prescriptions to this Professional Pharmacy for conscientious compounding.

Eccles Declares Some Inflation Is Now In Sight

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Federal Reserve Board Member Marriner S. Eccles told Congress Tuesday that "some inflation" is in sight and blamed it on administration policies and labor demands.

The former board chairman testified before an economic subcommittee headed by Sen. Douglas (D) Ill.

He said that the Federal Reserve's controlling group should either be given more authority to curb credit or it should be abolished and its powers delegated to the 12 Federal Reserve district banks.

Eccles termed industrial pension plans such as that recently set up for steelworkers a "mistake." Asked whether the present economic trend is inflationary or deflationary, he replied:

Bank Credit Expanding
"Statistics point to some inflationary developments. Bank credit is beginning to expand a little. There is an excessively rapid growth of consumer credit on more and more favorable terms. There is a great growth of housing credit on very small down payments. There is a rapid growth of municipal spending. There is the federal deficit. There is two billion 800 million dollars to veterans to be dispersed next year. There is the agriculture support policy of the government which tends to support farm prices at an inflationary level. There is the present labor wage policy, which indicates further increases in wages."

"There is the private industrial pension program, which I think is a mistake and which will tend to hold up prices."

Traffic Violations Total Over 80,000

Arrests Higher Than Year Ago Reports Col. C. W. Wilhelm, Commissioner

HARRISBURG.—State police arrests for violations of the vehicle code during the first nine months of 1949 totaled 80,042, as compared with 69,334 during the same period last year, according to an announcement from State Police Headquarters.

In commenting on the arrests, Colonel C. M. Wilhelm, state police commissioner, said:

"It is unfortunate that so many lives must be endangered by so few persons on the highway. Arrests are made necessary because a few persons refuse to accept their highway responsibilities. Additional state police have made it possible to apprehend more careless drivers who insist on endangering the lives of others."

Exceeding speed limitations accounted for 20,002 arrests during the first nine months of 1949, while 16,326 faced this charge during the same period last year. Exceeding weight restrictions resulted in 12,705 arrests this year, while 6,711 were arrested during the first nine months of 1948. Failure to stop at Stop signs caused 9,446 arrests with 8,007 arrested during the same period last year. Improper passing resulted in 7,477 arrests compared with 6,619 during the first nine months of 1948.

City P. T. A. Units Presented Trophy For Prize Float

Seven Presidents Given Float Trophy; Musical Program Presented At Rose Avenue

"Room Visitation" was held Tuesday night in the Rose Avenue school, when a large crowd of parents talked with the teachers from 7:30 to 8:45. Members of the school's P.T.A. with the presidents of the other P.T.A. units of the city as guests assembled in the auditorium for the monthly meeting, following the classroom visits. "America" was sung by the group, followed by the P.T.A. prayer read by Mrs. Max Stadfield. Mrs. Samuel Rashid, president, conducted the business session. Reports were given by Mrs. William McKee, secretary, and Mrs. Chester Rowe, treasurer. Program chairman, Mrs. Wesley Mann, stated that "Fathers' Night" would be held in January, with second grade mothers aiding with arrangements. A membership of 301 persons was reported by Mrs. Horace T. Tressler, membership chairman. Mrs. Harry Davis of the finance committee stated that a style show would be held in February, with parents, teachers, and children participating. Children of Miss Mildred Smith's second grade are studying Indians and since they had one hundred percent representation, they were presented with Indian tablets.

Send Teacher "Everyone is becoming more aware of education," states Mrs. Rashid, "and we want the best of teachers for the children. Miss Lucille Lutton will be our representative at the English teachers' convention in Buffalo, N. Y., November 24 and 25. Delegates to the next school board meeting will be Mrs. Horace T. Tressler, Mrs. John Tucker, Raymond Good and Harold Scheideamante. Mrs. Lucille Lutton, who recently toured Youngstown schools with other parents and teachers, gave an interesting and enlightening account of the modern schools visited by the group. John Cornelius, principal, discussed the tax problem of the city and hoped that the elementary school could be modernized in some manner.

Plan "Fathers' Night" "Fathers' Night" is planned in February, with the following men in charge: Louis Mooney, Wesley Mann, Thomas Booher, Chester Rowe, Harold Scheideamante, Horace T. Tressler, Raymond Good, Edward Mooney, Max Stadfield, Tom McCann, William McKee and Sam Rashid.

Plans were outlined concerning the forming of a city P.T.A. council. Roll call was taken, with Miss Smith winning the banner for the primary grades, and Miss Leslie for the intermediates.

Mrs. Wesley Mann, program chairman, introduced Miss Leslie, music teacher, who accompanied a group of sixth grade students as they sang several selections. An amusing reading was presented by Mrs. Frank McClain, who told of "Aunt Hannah's Trip to the City."

Trophy Presented Edward DeCarbo, second vice commander of the Catholic War Veterans of Pennsylvania and Commander of the local group, presented the second prize trophy to the seven presidents of the local P.T.A.'s. He stated, "this shows what work has been done already by the Parent-Teacher Association of the city and it is proof of what can still be accomplished." Mr. DeCarbo called upon Orlando Lucidore, president of the Pollock school unit and chairman of the float committee, who said, "it is more than a prize. It is a symbol of what can be done with all the units working together. Each school is to have the trophy for a short time. The Rose Avenue chorus, composed of parents and teachers, sang three numbers, ending with the amusing "Big Brown Bear." The chorus is further proof of the cooperation between the parents and teachers of the school. Delicious refreshments were served buffet style at an attractively appointed table. First grade mothers were hostesses, consisting of the Mesdames Harry Mack, John Tucker, Edward Prosser, Leonard Jameson, Wesley Mann, Edward Bucci, Ernest King, James Carano, Harry Davis, William Sherwood, Arthur Beatty and Mrs. Grace White.

Two new members have been added to the standing committee, namely, Mrs. Harold Scheideamante and Mrs. Albert Jones.

Another Youth Under Arrest

James R. Lyons, 22, Slippery Rock, R. D. 2, fourth member of a youthful band, was arrested by State police yesterday on a charge of stealing chickens from the James Maxwell farm, Wayne township, theft of highway equipment gasoline along Frew Mill road, and burglarizing two cottages at Fomelle, Beaver county. Richard D. Frischia, Portersville, R. D. 1, under arrest is also accused of participating in these burglaries. State police also report Di Frischia and Harold E. Saunders, Portersville, R. D. 2, burglarized the William Brandon farm, Perry township.

The trio, with Nelson J. Lyons, Slippery Rock, R. D. 2, brother of James, reportedly stole a power lawn motor from Herman Union cemetery which State police recovered at Hubbard.

The quartet will be arraigned today, State police report.

Seize Suspect In Attack On Girl

CROOKSTON, Minn., Nov. 23.—(INS) — A 25-year-old Minnesota farmer was held today in Polk County jail at Crookston where he was identified as the man who kidnapped and attacked a 7-year-old girl before leaving her for dead near a haystack.

Vivian Shannon of Red Lake Falls pointed to Raymond Dempsey from her hospital bed yesterday and said:

"He is the man." Dempsey, also identified by a motorist, denied the frost-bitten child's accusation and insisted he wasn't "the guy" named by Lloyd Johnson, a Red Lake farmer.

It was reported that organizations and clubs in the ward had been contacted relative to possibility of securing material for new capes for Mahoning School band. Representatives of various groups would meet Tuesday evening to discuss the matter; also a discussion of possibility of getting petitions signed favoring the paying of utilities in the ward. The skating pond on Mahoning avenue was discussed, and it is hoped there will be sufficient interest, to make this possible again this year.

E. N. Ubry presented the project of new capes to the representatives, and it was agreed that funds be raised for the material. The P.T.A. will make the capes. The representatives will report to their respective clubs on January 26.

R. M. Barnes presented the matter of paying utilities in the ward. It was suggested that the clubs be given petitions to be filled with signatures making this request. R. M. Barnes and Harry Elder will present the signed petitions to the respective utilities.

Says Atomic Bomb Does Not Alter Methods Of War

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(INS) — Field Marshall Montgomery, British hero of Alamein, declared Tuesday that the atomic bomb does not alter the methods of conducting war one bit.

The viscount told the National Press club at a luncheon that all military men take any new weapon and relate it to what they do. His comment was inspired by a question as to whether the bomb would alter the role of infantry in combat.

NOTICE
The Men's Christian Fellowship of Lawrence County
We have been asked to sponsor and share with three downtown churches a series of pre-Christmas gospel song fests. Time does not permit of an individual canvass, so your President has accepted this invitation on your behalf. Those of you who have church service in the evening are not expected to come. Your duty is to your church. To those who will have no evening service, we urge you to come and help us. The meetings will be in conjunction with the respective pastors, but the service will be definitely laymen conducted. The door to Christian service is opening to us. Praise be to God and our Lord Jesus Christ who has redeemed us, and may the Holy Spirit lead us in all humbleness to do His will. Sunday, November 27, December 4 and December 18. The First Meeting Sunday, November 27 at First Presbyterian Church, New Castle, starting 7:30 P. M. prompt. Come early! All persons—men, women and youth—who like to sing gospel songs are cordially invited. But please do not attend if your own church has a service.

Government Bureau Choosing District Census Supervisors

Selected On Basis Of Three Recommendations From Members Of Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(INS)—The Census bureau is choosing the 450 politically-nominated district supervisors who will direct Uncle Sam's 70 million dollar 1.50 population check.

Robert Phillips, assistant census director, reported that approximately 100 appointments have been made and that the remaining 3,500 will be appointed before January 1.

The district supervisors will field captain the 140,000 enumerators who next April will ring door-bells all over the nation as they carry out the decennial job of finding out how many persons live in America and what they do.

District supervisors work for about six months, starting in January, and are paid at an annual rate of about $4,500. In some cases the salary may be a little higher.

They are selected on the basis of three recommendations from senators or members of Congress from congressional districts all over the country.

As has been bureau custom, all recommendations are made by the political party in power much in the same fashion as the post office selects postmasters.

Most of the recommendations have been received by the bureau and it is now in the process of screening the candidates to find the most qualified persons to direct the operation.

Farmers Now Get Twice As Much For Produce--Canners

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(INS)—The nation's canners say that farmers now are getting twice as much for produce they sell for canning than they did before the war.

Carlos Campbell, of Washington, told the National Canners Association convention in Harrisburg, Pa. that while the prices of canned foods on the retail market have fallen "in terms of standardized dollar value," the farmers have not suffered. He said: "Farmers who have produced fruits and vegetables for canning have received in recent years a much larger share of the finished canned produce than before the war.

The weighted average price paid farmers for the principal fruits and vegetables for 1949 was about double that of the prewar period."

HUNTERS TAKE NOTICE

RUPERT, Vt., Nov. 23.—(INS)—More experienced hunters might learn a trick from John McGraw, 14, of West Pawlet, Vt.

John had only two shots in his rifle when he spotted a small buck. The first shot missed, the second only wounded the deer slightly.

So John dragged the buck 100 yards to a stream and drowned it. The minnow is a distinct species of fish.

Greatest Compliment a Car Ever Had!

NUMBERED AMONG THE HAPPIEST Cadillac owners are many, many dealers who sell and service other well-known makes of cars. They feel perfectly free to avail themselves of Cadillacs because they know that all the world holds Cadillac in a class apart. Hence, it is no reflection on the cars they sell when they seek, for themselves and their families, the exclusive advantages which "the Standard of the World" provides.

This, of course, is the greatest compliment a motor car ever had—and the respect upon which it is founded has been fifty years in the building. Throughout all this time, there has been the strictest adherence to the highest ideals of engineering and production. Not once has the inflexible rule of quality been eased for a single day.

It is a wonderful thing to own such a car. It is a wonderful thing to drive it—to relax in it—and to have it as a cherished possession. All in all, it enhances the enjoyment of the whole day's activities.

We think you would sense all this—and more—after an hour or so at the wheel. Why not come in some day, quite soon—for a ride that's a revelation? We should be happy to have you any time.

Weather May Be Important Factor In New Castle-McKeesport Game Saturday

Soggy Field Could Bog Down Offenses

The prospect of slippery, wet going in the Pitt Stadium championship playoff next Saturday lends itself to interesting speculation on how the weather will effect New Castle and McKeesport.

Favorable playing conditions prevailed during most of the regular season and the teams could play the type of game for which they were best suited. Saturday may be a little different story.

Power vs. Trickery
The local school boy eleven is mostly a power squad that has worn down the opposition and denied touchdowns on the ground. McKeesport operates out of the tricky T-formation, plays for that long gain, and figures to outscore the opposition. Both will have advantages and disadvantages should the Pitt Stadium turf be on the soggy side.

New Castle Heaviest
Weight differences between the title aspirants will definitely favor New Castle. The Red Hurricane starting line averages 185 per man, and the backfield about 171. The team average is 180. McKeesport is considerably lighter. The starting line used in the Ambridge and Jeannette games averages 162, the backs 175 and the team average is 166. Figures on both sides are subject to revision by substitutions.

This should mean that the New Castle ground game will be slowed down in the mud but that it should gain consistency. The Tigers, whose plays are designed that TD should have a little difficulty gaining their plays under way, but superior speed will work for their benefit once the play develops in the secondary.

Stage Signal Drill
New Castle staged another signal drill yesterday. The boys have developed a few new plays but the unfavorable weather conditions have prevented any rough contact work since before the Warren game.

Word from McKeesport indicates that although the Tigers will be outweighed, they are an exceptionally talented ball club. Coach Dutch Weigle has four assistants sharpening the teeth and fangs of the blue-clad Tigers.

The undefeated McKeesport eleven is in perhaps the best physical shape that it has been all season. Nick Maravic, 184-pound senior halfback was sidelined a large portion of the season because of an appendectomy. He is now rounding into shape and should be ready to go all out.

The Hurricane foes have two good pass receivers in Paul Kobelnick and Stan Stahurski. Each has been on the completion end of 22 aerials so far this season.

Have Reserves
Reserve strength has helped McKeesport just as it has been a vital factor in New Castle triumphs. Coach Weigle has four normal substitutions for defensive assignments that give the ground-gaining boys a rest. The size of the valley boys belies the fact that they were picked from a much larger group because they showed all the necessary qualities necessary to play on a Weigle team. They could better absorb the fine coaching and showed the fight and determination necessary to win ball games.

Antlerless Deer Season Banned In Seven Counties

HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Hunters will not be permitted to shoot antlerless deer in seven counties December 10, the state game commission reported today. They will be Bedford, Clearfield, Forest, Fulton, Franklin, Greene and Perry.

The commission said the state justice department had approved the petition of sportsmen in the seven counties but had rejected those from Clarion and Pike. The latter two were thrown out, the commission reported, because the requesting officials failed to observe legal requirements.

LUCKY TARGET SHOOT
There will be a Lucky Target turkey shoot at the Sportsmen range at the Harbor tonight 7 to midnight, it was announced by Herman Steinbrink. All shooters are welcome.

TIGER SNAPPERS—Don Sigley (left) and Ronald Ferrari take charge of the ball snapping assignments for the McKeesport Tigers. Both are seniors. Ferrari is a 170 pounder who sees most of the offensive action. Sigley, who weighs only 160, is a "bear" on defense. His task will be to stop the Cane power thrusts at the line.

Pulaskis Lose To Youngstown

K. Pulaski Big Five Drops Opener To Ohio Collegians 52 To 50 At Union Floor

K. Pulaski "Big Five" opened their '49-50 basketball season last night at Union high floor, by dropping to the Youngstown College Penguins, 52-50. Al Gonet was at the helm of the Oaklanders. It was a thrill packed game that was not over until the final whistle with the lead changing hands three or four times in the last two minutes of play.

The Pulaskis left the floor at half time with a 30-22 lead but bowed to a strong Penguin attack in the second half.

Jack Christien, Youngstown College, guard was high scorer for the night with 16 points, followed by Steve Gergely and Don Watters with 13 and Bob Carlson with 11.

Meet Wampus Sunday
Don Black and Chuck Rea played a good floor game for the Pulaskis, who were hampered by lack of reserves.

The New Castle A. C. defeated the New Castle Business College 41-23 in the preliminary game, with Buckner, Kenneth Wimer and John Razzano pacing the scoring.

The K. Pulaski "Big Five" will meet the Wampus A. C. at the K. P. hall Sunday afternoon at 3:30. The New Castle Business College meets the K. P. "Cubs" in the preliminary game which will start at 2 o'clock.

Santa Clara Accepts Bid To Orange Bowl

Kentucky, Virginia, Maryland, Rice Or Baylor May Get Bid To Oppose Broncos

MIAMI, Nov. 23.—(INS)—The Orange Bowl committee today announced that it has received an acceptance from the twice-beaten Santa Clara Broncos as one of the teams which will compete in Miami's January 2 football classic.

In a surprise announcement, Schedule Committee Chairman Van C. Kussrow said he has received an acceptance from the California school shortly before 2 p. m. (EST).

Beaten Twice
The Broncos have lost this season to California and Oklahoma. The Golden Bears beat them 21 to 7 and Oklahoma defeated them 28-21.

Kussrow, who scouted the Oklahoma-Santa Clara game last Saturday, said the Orange Bowl has not yet issued any other bids.

Big Alex Groza Nets 43 Points

Former Kentucky Star Leads Mates To 80-74 Win, On 17 Field Goals, 9 Fouls

(By International News Service)
Alex Groza has broken the individual season scoring high with 43 points to become the first man in the National Basketball Association to score over 300 points this season.

The elongated former University of Kentucky great added to his lead over George Mikan of the idle Minneapolis Lakers in forging the Olympians victory over the Rochester Royals last night. The 80-74 victory gave Indianapolis a won six lost six record for the year.

The sharp-shooting center and former Olympic star added to his lead both in field goals and successful foul shots with 17 goals and nine fouls.

Braun Scores 19
Meanwhile, Carl Braun, who pretty much decides the fate of the New York Knickerbockers, showed signs of breaking out of his slump by scoring 19 points to lead his team to an 89-74 victory over the injury-ridden Washington Capitols.

The Caps have gotten limited service from high scorer "Bones" McKinney, Fred Scolari and player-coach Bob Ferriek for the most of the season.

In the other game last night, the Tri-City Blackhawks dumped the Boston Celtics 80-72. Don Wier led the Hawks with 19 points while Sonny Hertzberg tallied a like number for the defeated Celtics.

Arranging Fistic Docket For Legion

Tommy Leach, matchmaker of the Jefferson Athletic club, today announced that the participants in the eight amateur bouts to be staged November 30 in The Arena would be announced Saturday or Monday. The American Legion, Perry Gaston post, is sponsoring the fistic duels.

Professional boxing has many ailments, but suffers most from the present monopoly of the game by New York interests who are spreading out and have control of most of the big sports centers.

Quarterbacks Hear Hartman

New Castle High Scout Tells How Strong Tigers Will Be, Game Of Year

Members of the 69 Quarterback club at the Elks last night listened intently as Joseph Hartman, local well-known public school principal and New Castle high football scout unfolded a story of how tough McKeesport will be Saturday.

The dinner got under way at 7 o'clock with Austin Cowmeadow saying the blessing. The meal consisted of steaks done to the turn home fries and all the trimmings for a regular he-man dinner.

Kennedy Toastmaster
Following the dinner Reuben Kennedy handled the toastmaster role in his own inimitable manner and called on Phil Bredenbaugh who introduced his two guests—Jimmy Harlan a guard and Dan DeFalco a tackle, both boys getting a nice hand. "Bridy" did not comment on the game Saturday.

El Garvin, excited ruler of the Elks spoke briefly and said the club is pulling for a New Castle victory Saturday.

Hartman Speaks
Hartman saw McKeesport play Ambridge and was impressed with their star Fran Patera, whose passing attack caught his eye and also several other Tiger backs who will cause New Castle trouble Saturday.

Hartman was particularly impressed with the condition of the Tigers as to physical makeup of the powerful line. He had plenty of praise for "Duke" Weigle, the Tiger mentor, as a smart coach.

"McKeesport will present a stubborn hard fighting club, the best New Castle has faced this year," Hartman stated.

"I would call this the game of the year," he concluded.

The Quarterbacks will meet next Wednesday instead of Tuesday and will have the entire New Castle team present as their guests, it was announced.

Movies of the important 1948 Army football games were shown as the concluding portion of the Tuesday meeting. The pictures were sent here through the courtesy of Army Head Coach Earl "Red" Blaik.

Flyers Battle Barons Tonight

(By International News Service)
The St. Louis Flyers, who hit the Cleveland ice tonight hot from last night's encouraging 5-2 victory over the Springfield Indians, stand a good chance of halting the Barons' string of 10 undefeated games.

The pace-setting Clevelanders have thus far run away with the western division race of the American Hockey league by chalking up 28 points.

Last night's game moved the second-place St. Louis team to within five points of the Clevelanders. They have won four games in a row and seven of their last eight.

Other games scheduled for tonight include Indianapolis at Providence and Springfield at Pittsburgh.

Ivy League Title At Stake In Penn And Cornell Game

By TROY GORDON (International News Service Staff Writer)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Another football season ends in Pennsylvania this week, and most of the fans will follow the final games by radio or newspapers.

Only five contests involving Pennsylvania colleges are scheduled. All of them occur Thanksgiving Day.

The best is the Penn-Cornell classic in Philadelphia. It will decide the Ivy League championship, and in fact qualifies as one of the major attractions of the day.

Title At Stake
Penn is undefeated in three Ivy League contests and needs a victory or a tie to win the title all alone. Cornell, with four triumphs and a loss, can win the championship only if it beats Penn.

That attraction will be followed by another double-AA No. 1 clash in Philadelphia Saturday—Army vs. Navy. Neither of the two teams claims Pennsylvania as its home for more than the one day, but they put on quite a show annually.

The other Keystone State turkey day affairs are somewhat on the drab side, except for strictly partisan fans.

But a lot of attention will be given Gannon's date at Steubenville. The Erie College winds up its season against the Ohioans, and a victory would make a perfect record in Gannon's first year of intercollegiate competition. A minor bowl bid might follow. Gannon will be favored.

Dukes Down South
Duquesne, trying to get back in the big time and failing primarily because of 15 straight losses to Southern teams, goes South again to play at Chattanooga, Tenn. The Dukes have a chance to end that streak of defeats in Dixie, if they can hold onto the ball.

A couple of traditional rivalries round out the final week's slate. McKeesport plays at Franklin & Marshall and Lincoln meets Howard at Philadelphia.

Seek Suitable Date
A suitable date for the banquet to be held at the Cathedral will be decided upon next Monday. Fourteen men representing various clubs and organizations met last night.

There seems to be an enthusiastic response to the idea of staging a gigantic public reception and banquet for the young men who will battle McKeesport Saturday at the Pitt Stadium for the Class AA title.

All persons interested in seeing this big project, put over are asked to attend the meeting to be held at the Eagles Club next Monday.

SLOVAKS BOWL FRIDAY
The Slovak bowling league will roll on Friday instead of Thursday, it was announced today, on account of Thanksgiving.

Six Teams Attend City-County Session

Six basketball teams had representatives at the first meeting of the year staged by the city-county basketball league at the Y last night. Art Mittler, president of the 1948-49 league presided.

The following teams were represented—Morells, All-Stars, East Brook Brothers, Jackson, Shamrocks, Shenango Pottery and Hank A.C.

The Philadelphia Phillies have announced the signing of a 19-year-old catcher from Baltimore, Md. The Blue Jays reportedly out-talked seven major clubs to acquire the services of young Carlo Crispino.

Fox reports Great Horned Owls devour many insects. . . . According to small game hunters there are more rabbits in the city than in rural haunts. . . . Joe Louis Wins Exhibition Bout

By HOWARD SIGMANT
(International News Service Staff Writer)
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Joe Louis has made it abundantly clear that he has no desire to make a come back.

Therefore no significance can be attached to the retired undefeated heavyweight champion's ten-round exhibition bout last night with one Joe Cheshul at Newark's Armory.

The bout was billed as a "no decision" contest and even if the 5,500 customers couldn't see it that way, that's how it must remain.

Sports writers at ringside polled after the fight, sub rosa of course, whisperingly gave the nod to Louis, unanimously and easily.

Louis weighs 228½ lbs. Many had seen the very same thing when Joe was in his prime. Well, not exactly. The Brown Bomber had never come into a ring at the atrociously heavy weight of 228½ pounds.

Joe said he wasn't coming back, didn't he?

Plan Benefit For Former Tech Star

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Two high school alumni football squads meet at nearby Stowe High field tonight in a benefit game for George Muha, former Carnegie Tech backfield star of the late thirties.

Proceeds from a crowd of nearly 5,000 will be turned over to Muha who is seriously ill with Hodgkins disease. The former 225-pound husky, who played right halfback on Tech's 1938 Sugar Bowl team, now weighs only 140 pounds. He was employed as an engineer prior to his illness.

The benefit contest was arranged by friends and former Stowe High and Tech classmates of Muha.

Sewell To Manage Charleston Team

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Truett (Rip) Sewell today was appointed manager of the Charleston, S. C., team in the South Atlantic (Sally) League.

Appointment of the 42-year-old Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher was announced by Pirate General Manager Roy Haney in Pittsburgh. Haney said the Pirates own the Class A Charleston club outright.

TWO PENN STARS TO MISS CLASSIC

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Two key Pennsylvania players may have to sit out the Thanksgiving Day tussle with Cornell on which hinges the Ivy league championship.

Coach George Munger said that Lou Roberts, offensive left end, is sidelined with a heel injury, and offensive wingback Billy Rhoads has a hip injury.

Thursday is now called Turkey Day
But the Pilgrims looked at it in another way—
They Gave to the God above
Thanks for his bounteous love
We also wish to add our thanks to theirs
And wishing you nice people
Freedom from all cares.
